

The Daily Gazetteer.

SATURDAY, APRIL 20, 1743.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Petersburg, March 30.

T is observed here, that the Answer given by her Imperial Majesty to the French Minister, is conceived in very general Terms; and whilst, carries nothing in it very promising, as the Reader will judge from the following very exact Translation. * The Emperors having so often declar'd that he is of living in perfect Friendship with the King of France, is very well satisfied again, in her Court, a Minister equally capable of cultivating that good Correspondence, and of doing any Thing that may happen, of a Nature capable of disturbing that perfect Harmony that reigns between the Two Powers: Moreover, the Plenipotentiary may rest assured of the high regard of her Imperial Majesty. The Answer made Compliments by the Grand Duke, was somewhat agreeable; and that of the Imperial Plenipotentiary obliging. The Prince of Holstein Gottemore extremely indispos'd, and the old Prince of Zerbit is relaps'd; which is attributed to the Death of her youngest Daughter, Sister to the said Prince.

London, April 13. His Majesty, who has been much fatigued for some time past, is now pretty well recovered; and much, that Yesterday he dined in Publick with the Prince and Princess Royal. It is certain, that his Minister has proposed a Plan for a new Treaty, containing a reciproca Guaranty of the Dominions of both Crowns; together with some other Article of great Importance; in regard to which Treaty, his Majesty has declared that nothing can be without the Concurrence of the Czarina, inasmuch as he considers the Interest of their Crowns as inseparably indivisible.

London, April 10. The Three new Regiments lately raised for the King's Service, will speedily begin their March towards Saxony; and the 3000 Tartars that have been raised for his Service, are to march speedily by way of Cracow, into Moravia. Cardinal Lipski, was charg'd by the King with the Care of the Disputes that arose about the Succession of Lubomirski, has brought that Affair to a final Settlement, by which the Widow of that Prince yields to the Crown, all her Estates in this Kingdom; and, on the other Hand, they renounce in her, and her Son, all their Pretensions on the Crown to the Acquisitions made by his Highness out of Poland, which are very considerable; as also the Jewels, and Moveables, which are of very Value.

London, March 23. The King continues much as he did; nor is there any great Hopes of his Recovery. He himself, however, very closely to Businels; and has only ordered that all his Forces shall be augmented to their ancient Establishment, which was treble to what is present. An Account has been published here, of the Cargo of the Fleet from Rio de Janeiro, which arrived here on the 7th of this Month, but without any account of the Gold and Silver on board that which, however, is said to amount to near 20 Millions.

London, April 5. The Infanta, Spouse to Don Philip, recov'r'd from the Measles, and will re-enter on the 10th, with the rest of the Royal Family.

His Majesty has receiv'd an Express from the French, with the agreeable News that a Ship was arrived from Vera Cruz at the Havanna, with Six Millions of Eight on board. The same Express brought an exact Account of the late Earthquake and Tsunami at Jamaica; in Consequence of which, his Majesty has been pleased to declare to all the Foreign Ministers at his Court, that the Damages done thereby had only at 15 Millions Sterling. We expect with impatience a Courier from the Count de Gages, to whom his Majesty has sent positive Orders to attack the Austrians at all Events.

Augsburg, April 8. All the Austrian Army is retired to the Passaro, except a very small Detachment of 1000, which is still in our Neighbourhood. The Spanish Army under the Command of General Count de Sarrion remains still at Imola, to give Time to several reinforcements to come up; and as soon as they have joined them, will follow the Austrians with the utmost vigour. Some People here are of Opinion, that these is a great Probability Prince Lobkowitz will continue his March towards Mantua; the rather, because he has already made a considerable Detachment on the Side of Mirandola.

Vienna, April 14. We are told here, that a formal Negotiation is on the Carpet, for an Accommodation between the Queen our Sovereign and the Elector of Bavaria; which, it is said, will be terminated by a Congress at Innspruck; to which the Ministers of the King of Great Britain, the King of Poland, the States General, and the Elector of Cologne, will be invited. The 24th remains fix'd for the Departure of Prince Charles of Lorraine, to open the Campaign on the Side of Sicilia. This Morning the following important Piece of News was made publick at Court; viz. that the King of Sardinia had renounc'd all Pretensions on the Marquise of Final, which the King of Great Britain has guaranty'd to the State of Genoa, in Consideration of which, they have undertaken to observe an exact Neutrality, and to oblige the Spaniards to lay aside the Design they had form'd of penetrating through their Dominions.

Breslau, April 13. The King still continues at Neiss, to which Place there were conducted, a few Days ago, 20 Austrian Hussars, that had been taken Prisoners by one of our Detachments. Yesterday the new-raised Corps of Huntsmen began their March for the Army; and this Day we have sent thither a large Train of heavy Artillery, and abundance of Pontons. The Hungarian Insurgents, not long ago, set Fire to several Houses and Farms in the Suburbs of the Town of Nosenberg, on the other Side of the Oder.

Ingoldstadt, April 16. The Marquis de Rupelmonde, who commanded at Kelheim, agreeable to the Orders he had received, abandon'd that City, and march'd to Pfaffenholz, with the Regiment of Le Mirk, where he waited for the Marquis de Segur, who was then near the Lech, with six more Regiments of French Troops, which had pass'd the Winter in Bavaria. In the Night of the 12th, the Palatine Troops which were in the Duchy of Neubourg, under the Command of General Zastrow, march'd, in Obedience to an express Order from their Court, to join the French Forces, who, therupon, continued to move towards Pfaffenholz. General Count Bathani having exact Intelligence of all these Motions, march'd with the utmost Diligence, at the Head of a Part of his Troops, on that Side; and arriving within Sight of the Enemy on the 15th, attack'd them with such Vigour and Success, that he obtained a complete Victory. As we have not hitherto receiv'd the Particulars of this Action, on Account of our Troops being in full Pursuit of the Enemy, we can only say thus much with Certainty; that they are entirely broken and defeated, General Zastrow wounded, and the Marquis de Rupelmonde killed.

Coblenz, April 21. The Army of the Allies continues still quiet in its Quarters, which extend all along the Rhine, up to Neuwied. The Head Quarters are at Vallendar, where, as yet, there is no Bridge thrown over the River; but every Thing necessary for that Purpose is ready, whenever that Measure shall be thought requisite. We are informed, that the Duke of Aremberg was very desirous of passing the Rhine, but that the Generals Smissart and Somerfeldt oppos'd it, alledging, they found nothing to that Purpose in their Instructions. The Duke has more than once suggested a Desire of attacking the French, in which he was likewise prevented by those Generals, insisting, that they were directed to cover the Electorates of Cologne and Hanover, and to continue therefore on the Defensive. But they have at last consented to send an Express to the Hague, in order to be informed what Conduct they are to pursue, in case his Highness the Duke of Aremberg should still persist in his Resolution of passing the Rhine, as it is extremely probable he will.

Brussels, April 26. All the Troops that are to form the Army of the Allies are in full Motion; insomuch, that we expect they will be completely encamp'd by Friday next in our Neighbourhood. We learn from Tournay, that 41 Battalions of French Troops had lately pass'd the Sched, their Officers giving out publickly, that they were marching to seize Oudensrd; but, from the Reports of Deserters, we are rather inclined to believe that they have a Design upon Tournay itself. According to an Express lately arrived from the Army of M. Aremberg, he has offer'd the French Battle five Times, but without Effect. We have received from Augsburg an Account of a glorious Victory gain'd at Pfaffenholz, which it is hoped will put an End to the War in Bavaria, and oblige the Elector to accept of Peace, which we are assured has been offer'd him on reasonable Terms.

London, April 20. We have this Moment Advice that the French continued their March directly towards Tournay; which, according to this Intelligence, they must have invested two Days ago. It is said the Enemy have a Train of 200 Pieces of heavy Cannon.

F O R E I G N P O R T S.

Ellesmire, April 20. Captain Poole, from Lynn for Stockholm, is arriv'd here, but had like to have been lost in the Cattegate. This Ship, the Day after she sailed from Lynn, was taken by a French Dogger belonging to Dunkirk, with 120 Men, and 13 Carriage-Guns, besides Swivels, and was ransom'd for 320 l. The British Ships bound for the East Seas are all sail'd.
